

CHIEF EXECUTIVE

WESTERN NSW PRIMARY HEALTH NETWORK

- Shape a world class primary health care system
- Newly created leadership role with impact
- Regional location

Lead one of Australia's newly created Primary Health Networks at its inception and take a key role in advancing medical services for patients by improving coordination of care for over 320,000 people across a region covering 450,000 square kilometres. WNPHN is a consortium of two former Medicare Locals and two Aboriginal Health community organisations.

Working with a well informed Board you will provide strategic and creative leadership, advice and policy development, oversee all activities and operations, and assure organisational stability through the transition phase. You will develop strategic alliances with a full range of health service providers and stakeholders to improve health and facilitate seamless care for people in the area, and ensure that staff are managed to meet contractual and financial obligations.

This pioneering role demands a proven CEO with a collaborative approach and ability to manage day-to-day operations over a large and diverse geographical area. You will need a thorough understanding of the Australian primary health care environment and health policy, including Aboriginal health, and highly developed interpersonal and communication skills to ensure a positive ethical culture throughout the organisation.

If you're a big thinker, with the ability and enthusiasm to drive this exciting new venture across a diverse cultural landscape, please send your application to cv@dakinmayers.com.au by 20 July or call Philip Mayers/Rosemary Lloyd on 1800 241 243 for a confidential discussion.
